FOREWORD

As in the past and forever and anon, mankind follows roadways to unseen destinations. Whether they be roughhewn cart tracks through land few human eyes have beheld or ultramodern highways causing confusion for thousands of motorists daily, roads are essential for human existence. Roads are the most important ingredient in modern transportation and have been the bearers of almost every object in our society. Even as a line is drawn on a map by an engineer, the lives of a multitude of people are affected. That tiny pencil mark will set in motion millions of tons of equipment and manpower; it will initiate much high level planning in a project that will enrage none but bring great benefits to an infinite number. We feel that the individual students of Roy-Hart will follow different pathways. Their success and happiness depend upon the wisdom of their choice and the condition of the road they travel. Because of the tremendous influence wrought upon our lives by roads, and because of the countless number of people affected by them, the staff has chosen ROADS as the theme of the 1971 SCOPE.

The gutting of the structure near the football field is a grim reminder of the fall tragedy. Students took an active part in cleaning up the roadsides from litter and hung a dummy of pollution in effigy. The latter part of lunch is an often used social period as the year's work comes to an end on moving-up day.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH BUILDING

The Junior-Senior High School building is the center of many activities which start in the morning when the busses pull in. During the afternoon, the band practices on the football field. In the evening, the girls of synchronized swim club rehearse for their presentation of the annual water show. Students sometimes take time out to visit the bookstore.

Paying for lunch, cleaning up litter, admiring class rings, checking passes, listening to the coach — all add to recollections of Roy Hart

Father...

Not just a father but my father, loved because his words and his wisdom come from his heart.

Teacher...

The one for whom the word respect was coined, because his classroom could be described in no other way.

Principal...

With the wisdom to take the best from the past, the logic to incorporate it into the present, and the ability to improve it with the future.

Margaret Gibbs

dedication

There is a man whom students see less frequently after they enter high school, but who has had a great influence in shaping their future. He is a person who has a vital concern for youth and a modern outlook in a modern world. Though not required to do so, he is personally connected with everything under his supervision. When he learned that special classes were to be housed in his building, he took courses dealing with this type of student.

He entered Atlantic Union College in 1942, and Washington Missionary College in 1943. After serving two years in the Navy in the medical corps, he received his Bachelor of Science in Education at SUNY at Buffalo. He received his Masters Degree from Canisius in 1967.

He is an extremely accomplished pianist and organist and has played many times in the high school auditorium. He also spent many years playing professionally with dance bands. In addition to his other activities, he is a devoted health enthusiast and still finds time to jog regularly.

He taught sixth grade in Gasport for fourteen years, 1949-63, and he has been building principal since 1963. This brings his total years of service at Royalton-Hartland to an impressive twenty-two years.

In recognition of your great devotion to your students and your work, and because of the respect shown you by your faculty and others, Press Club proudly dedicates the 1971 SCOPE to you, Mr. Frederick Gibbs

They Serve Us Well

Just as a nation must elect a leader, so must a school district choose leaders. These representatives form a working unit that is called a Board of Education. This group meets twice a month to handle issues which confront educators today. The Board appoints new teachers and other school personnel, prepares the budget for the school year, and publishes the informative Newsletter, which is sent to every household in the school district. In addition to attending their own meetings, the members of the Board of Education have the opportunity to attend other education oriented meetings during the year. These include the annual New York State School Boards Association in Syracuse, the Erie-Niagara School Board Association, the Western New York Development Council, and state regional conferences. To this governing body we extend our sincere thanks for the many innovations they have introduced in the Royalton-Hartland school district.

MR. SANDERSON

I encourage every student to be all that he can be and do all that he can do. Life is but a short space of time given to each of us to accomplish a mission. There is a purpose for every living thing and each living thing must fulfill that purpose. Now is the time to discover that purpose and to prepare ourselves to accomplish that change. Nineteen seventy-one must be used to accomplish our individual missions.

MR. GIBBS

The word education comes from the Latin word "educere" which means to bring out or to draw out. In the elementary school we provide experiences which will draw children into wider interests so they may feel that they are a part of a wider world. Education is the escalator to maturity, the means by which each individual prepares to take his appropriate place in society. When Confucius was asked to describe what he considered the most beautiful sight, he answered, "The most beautiful sight in the world is a child going confidently down the road after you have shown him the way." This is our purpose — to show the young the way down the road to maturity.

The principal's function is to facilitate and improve instruction in his school. He stimulates, guides and, in cooperation with staff members, he works to create an environment designed to help children become useful, competent, happy citizens who are worthy of freedom. During their elementary years, he tries to help youngsters learn to manage their own lives. His ultimate goal is to help the children develop control in order that they may direct their own conduct wisely.

MR. JOHNSON

Education is the cornerstone of any democracy. In order for our form of government to survive, the members must be informed. With the advent of the right for all eighteen year olds to vote in a federal election, it is even more significant that students realize their potential to critically analyze the maze of fact and fiction which is so prevalent in our world today. Progress is inevitable, but those who are truly educated will be the driving force which will reshape our future lives. The youth of today are in an enviable position. At no time in our history has the climate for change been so in evidence. Will you be ready?

MR. BASOM

Until a full-time assistant principal was hired, Mr. Basom served in this capacity. He spent a considerable portion of his time in the high school office assisting with attendance and disciplinary problems. The balance of his time was used in his guidance office counseling and scheduling seventh and eighth graders and some high school students.

English Is Vital

To speak confidently, think logically, converse intelligently, and read thoughtfully! The study of English literature, public speaking, grammar and logic help the student to do all these things. The English language provides the means not only for communication and learning, but also for the recognition and expression of truth and beauty. Each English student is considered as an entity, a star unique in the constellation of a broad curriculum. This curriculum is so organized that the special needs of each student are kept in mind in order to develop an open mind and to meet the increasing demand of a changing world.

Inquisitiveness Aids Learning

Increasingly, today's students are raising questions concerning the relevance and meaning of the vast amount of uninterpreted fact they are supposed to assimilate concerning the past and present. Today's faculty at Royalton-Hartland tries to meet their needs by using the syllabi of the department of education. The latter emphasizes the cultures of America, Africa and Asia in investigating the forces that have shaped Western man and his institutions into a dynamic modern society. The courses are interdisciplinary, with emphasis upon important political, economic, and social concepts, as well as those concepts drawn from the humanities.

science

Science is a Necessity Today

For the student interested in science, the curriculum at Roy-Hart offers a wide selection. General science, which deals with main areas of chemistry and physics, is taught in order to present an over-all view. In earth science, the composition of the universe is studied, while in biology, students delve into human and plant physiology and their functions. In chemistry, the nature of atoms and elements is studied. Physics students are instructed in energy and matter relationship. For the biology, chemistry, and physics courses, there are labs which demonstrate the principles learned in class lectures.

mathematics

Mathematics Is Used In Every Field

Mathematics, the language of the sciences, is an invaluable tool in today's complex world. Mathematical symbols are used to scale a blueprint by the draftsman at the drawing board, to take a measurement by the chemist in the laboratory, to tabulate data by a programmer at an IBM machine, to plot a graph by a student working with an equation in the classroom. In addition to basic courses in Junior High, nine different courses are offered in high school.

Languages Broaden Students' Cultural Knowledge

In addition to the knowledge of fundamental grammar and vocabulary, an understanding of culture is necessary in the study of a language. Latin, French, and Spanish are offered at Royalton-Hartland. The language lab is used by the students as part of the class work as well as for individual drill on oral skills. Research projects, study of the customs and geography of the country, learning typical songs, and reading representative poetry and prose are part of these courses. Both writing and conversational skills are emphasized in the student's study of a language.

The Door Is Open— Come In

The center of activity for planning a student's future is the guidance office. Planning subject programs, making appropriate educational plans, discussing the military obligation and the selective service law and exploring vocational choices are several services made available to the students by the counselors. Anyone who has already graduated, dropped out, or moved into the school district can call on the counselors whenever a need arises. Included in the Guidance Department's files are information about High School Equivalency Exams, correspondence courses, Adult Education classes, business and trade schools, and colleges.

Imagination Is Used To Express Ideas

The present curriculum of the art department stresses the use of art in everyday living and the expression of ideas in a visual way. The students try different perspectives, build from rough drafts, draw with pen and ink, paint with tempera and construct objects from paper and glue. In short, they gain an introduction to the major movements in the history of art and a wide variety of art experiences based on the understanding, knowledge, appreciation and application of the fundamental arts. After completing the courses, they have a broader outlook on life.

Personal Freedom Is Expressed Through Music

Where can one learn about the current music revolution? The knowledgeable music department of RHCS promotes technique and understanding to help students become aware of the personal freedoms involved in the music scene. Secondary instruction is begun in the seventh and eighth grade through Junior High Chorus classes, B Band, and Junior High String Ensemble. Later these students enhance their cultural horizons in the Mixed Chorus, A Band and Orchestra. Members are offered the opportunity to participate in concerts and musicals and to learn to "mark time" as members of the marching band. Musicians have the option of taking Music Theory and Appreciation for a music major.

World Of Business Requires Great Skill

Preparing students for a place in the world of business is the aim of the Business Department. Students develop secretarial and clerical skills, and desirable personal qualities and abilities. They operate office machinery, take notes efficiently and develop an appreciation of the art of typing. They learn everyday law, bookkeeping practices, the art of window and advertising display and effective salesmanship procedures. Each business student is given the opportunity to develop these skills to his fullest. In order to assist the college bound students, classes in Personal Typing and Notehand are offered.

Library Holds Key To Students' Future

With its wall to wall covering of books, the library is saturated with knowledge. During study hall periods students work with the research facilities or select reading material for their pleasure. Subject teachers take entire classes to the library to work on projects. Preparation for the proper use of the library's periodicals, reference books, encyclopedias, and the card catalog is initiated at the Junior-High level and is accomplished through regularly scheduled classes supervised by the librarian. Through cooperation with the Audio-Visual Department, a media center has been established.

Girls Become Responsible Women

Discovering their own personalities is a major objective of students taking the Home Economics curriculum. The courses offered provide all future homemakers with the basic knowledge to become fashionable dressers, good family members and better consumers. Specific skills can also be gained in preparing foreign as well as American meals. The art involved in becoming an expert seamstress is studied. As a result of the variety of areas covered, all students who complete this course are capable of helping not only themselves, but their family and others.

Physical Fitness Coincides With Success

Exercise is good for the body; exercise stimulates the mind. Strong bodies and minds are needed to overcome the problems of the present day. Through the use of exercises, apparatus, tumbling, games, and swimming, students develop agility, coordination and strength and improve their general physical condition. Unless a student has a medical excuse, he has swimming instruction once a week. Thus, each one is taught to swim and through this is better able to save his life or someone else's in case of an emergency in the water. In order to evaluate the program, state physical fitness tests are administered.

Muscles are developed by the use of this ball in physical education class.

Each student has two physical education classes — one in the pool and one in the gym.

Students Are Trained To Live Wisely

This year students in grades 8 and 11 are enrolled in Health Education classes which meet twice a week for a full school year. The State Education Department mandates this course in order to give every student a broad experience in general health information with special emphasis on current health problems such as smoking, alcohol, drug abuse, pollution, and family life education. The understanding of basic concepts along with valuable information on a wide variety of subjects should enable every student to make wise decisions and cope with health problems and emergencies that may be faced in future years.

Our health service program has one main purpose — to promote and maintain optimum health of all students and school personnel. Students in grades seven and ten and all students participating in sports receive a physical examination. Hearing and vision tests are administered to all students. Any defects found during these examinations and tests are reported to the parents. Students in grades eight, ten, and twelve have their teeth cleaned; all others are checked. Through these activities, the health team keeps our students in as good physical health as possible.

There are also three General Metal Shop and three General Wood Shop classes. Advanced classes include Wood Shop, Electric Shop and Metal Shop. At the seventh and eighth grade levels, six classes receive instruction in the area of wood, transportation, and plastics. Three girls requested to be included, but their schedules could not be arranged to include them. This is a subject from which girls can receive as much benefit as boys.

Roadways Will Be Safe

The concept of traffic safety begins with a study of the number of cars on the highway and develops into an understanding of personal responsibilities in driving. Various topics, such as, the law, defensive driving, and psychological and physical factors in accidents are discussed in class to provide an understanding of our present traffic problems. After establishing this perspective each student's responsibility as a driver is reinforced through actual experience on the road in the Driver Education car under the supervision of a qualified instructor.

Training For A Variety Of Skills Is Given

Who says agriculture is just for farmers? Anyone who is interested in plumbing, welding, motor assembly or general repair methods can take this course to secure basic knowledge in these areas. Three classes taken progressively are included in this curriculum: Non-vocational Agriculture, Agriculture Production and Management, and Agriculture Mechanics. All course material is obtained from pamphlets, magazines and reports thus keeping this program up to date in the evolving field of agriculture.

Reading Skills Are Reinforced

New personnel has been added to the reading department this year to meet the demands and needs of an expanding student body. Developmental reading assistance is available in the junior high to provide basic reading and to develop study skills for seventh and eighth graders. In the senior high, students recommended for clinical testing are referred to the reading laboratory, where its directors provide material for them and consult with teachers involved with content subjects. The reading staff is trying to insure continuous reading success for every student.

Speech Correction Is Emphasized

Any student in need of speech therapy or correction is eligible to receive instruction and help from the speech department. Aid is given to students at all educational levels, but the main emphasis is in the elementary grades. The program is divided into three parts, identifying speech problems, correcting them and then eliminating them. After receiving an evaluation, any student who has any difficulties may receive instruction. He then meets in a small group once or twice a week with the therapist. Through this corrective program, our school hopes to accomplish far-reaching results for students in speech development and correction.

EXCHANGE STUDENT

After twelve years of school and hard work in Tunisia, my year at Roy-Hart came to complete and refine my knowledge of English and social studies. Roy-Hart means the teachers and the students, the community they are from and the people they represent. All these people helped to bring me over here to have an individual experience as a member of an American family and a student in one of the best schools I have ever attended. Thank you very much, all of you who helped me through my problems and confusions in the beginning of the school year, and who are still showing me the American way of doing things. I don't know if I really deserve all this attention and kindness, but I hope you'll get something from me and from my country life and habits to satisfy you.

When I first came here many people asked me where New Zealand was. Some told me where it was. If you examine a map, you'll see that New Zealand consists of two islands twelve hundred miles southeast of Australia. What really surprised me when I arrived here was the basic similarity between the people and the situations here and back home. Apart from a few superficial differences, an American could be a New Zealander. Because of this similarity, I found it easy to adapt to life here. Leaving here is going to be harder than leaving home because it will seem more final, but I would like to return here, and if not, perhaps I will see some of you as the rich American tourists that boost our tourist industry.

Roy-Hart what memories that name will bring back in the years to come! New friendships, laughter, games, unfamiliar ways becoming familiar, a new "language", and many typically hospitable Americans - to name a few. My year with you has been a lot more than I ever expected, for which I have a number of people to thank. First, I am grateful to my three families and the Rotary Club, but no less to all of you at Roy-Hart. I do hope to get a chance to visit you again in Middleport, but until then thank you so much for everything, and it would be really great to see you in Rhodesia!

Now We Have The World In Our Hands

Here at last! 1971 - our senior year! Thirteen long years of waiting! Thirteen years packed full of memories, honors, sorrows, hard work and fun!

The class of 1971 was the first to begin this long journey in the new elementary schools in 1958. Upon completion of kindergarten, we received miniature caps and diplomas which we still treasure. This year we will receive caps and diplomas, but this time it will be the real thing, and they will be treasured even more. Acting abilities were displayed by class members in their performances of "The Little Red Hen" in kindergarten, and "Caddie Woodlawn" in sixth grade. None of us will forget the annual visits of the Easter Bunny and Santa Claus. As sixth graders we visited the big high school and wondered how we'd ever manage when we became seventh graders. Much to our surprise we accomplished this feat in a week.

In seventh grade, we enjoyed our first big dance in the cafeteria during eighth period, and this swelled the class treasury by twenty dollars. During our freshman year, we joined with the Sophomores in creating a "Sadie Hawkins Dance", at which the girls asked the boys to the dance. Our sophomore year brought honors in the Athletic Department with the undefeated football season for the JV Rams and the "Number One" spot, Section VI Class A Varsity basketball championship at Memorial Auditorium. This year also saw our first big money-making project - a submarine sandwich sale. Our junior year brought happiness with individual pictures for Scope and our cherished class rings. The Junior-Senior Prom "Midnight Mist", the first dinner dance held by students, was brimful of everlasting memories and was also a financial success. Remember those lovely decorations at the Niagara-Orleans Country Club!

In our junior year, Alison Rowell from Rhodesia joined us, and this year Hind Barrak from Tunisia and Ed Napier from New Zealand were welcomed as members of our class.

As Seniors, we now think back on all the wonderful, memory-filled years we've had at Roy-Hart. Now, as our high school days are coming to an end, we must face this fast-changing world with great hopes for the future. The foundation we have received in these thirteen years will help us to fulfill these hopes.

Stephanie Whitney

Hind Barrak operates the cash register in the Cornershop. Retailing Club members work during study halls.

Wendy Williamson puts tinsel on our third place Christmas Tree. That's not bad considering that the decorations cost nothing.

Principles of light diffraction are illustrated in a physics lab as Stephen Socha and Colleen Querns view a spectrum through a diffraction grating.

Though the Seniors tried hard, they seldom got the ball in those close Senior Faculty Games. Barry Hernandez guards Mr. McKinney on a fast break.

Budding chemists Sandra LePard, Lindsay Malkiewich and Kent Broom, extract elements by heating an unknown compound in a test tube.

Guiding us through these first period class meetings, our officers Ron Berlin, Eric Keller, Sue Szmak and Stephanie Whitney, spent as much time as possible discussing everything.

Preparations for Moving Up Day are almost completed as Dan Ramming and Gail Penty finish making the banner of roses

Romance pervaded the atmosphere when "Midnight Mist", our Junior Prom was held at the Niagara-Orleans Country Club. The Prom made history as it was the first one held off school property to be a financial success.

Sarah Grove, Nancy Smith and Barbara Gould prepare roses for the Moving Up Day Arch

Dramatic talent appeared early in our class when Miss Dunham's sixth grade presented "Caddie Woodlawn." At least I cut down on classwork

What model housekeepers we had. Rozanne Ferington prepares more food as JoAnn Ander, Colleen Quarns and Mary Cramer partake of the food Ann Schlinger, Bill McKee and Mary Beirle study shells in a science unit. Mrs. Kirkpatrick's third grade produced fine scientists?

That beautiful fountain with its dry ice helped enhance the Junior Prom even when it ran all over the floor.

Is Steve Socha holding his head on while doing a duck walk? No, just combing his hair in the soap dispenser after the mirrors came down.

Those seventh grade baton twirlers really looked like stars all the way

Our class was always one of the healthiest. Dr. Williams administers a thorough examination to Lowell Fry

It took long enough, but finally the time came. Here, Eric Sidebottom and Paul Kempton get measured for ring sizes.

Linda Rowling, Andy Majka and Stephanie Whitney add decorations to a lovely tree. Andy and his girls do a fine job.

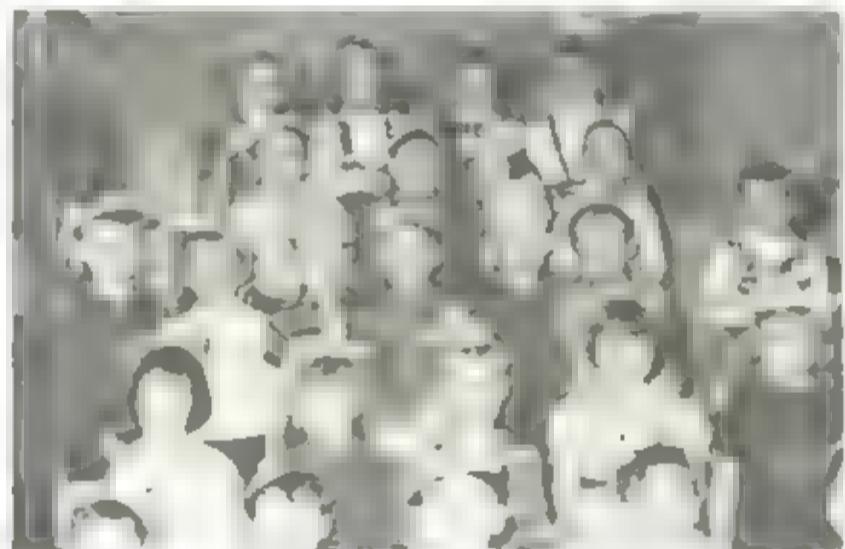

June of '68 saw us moving up the ladder. Steve Socha admires the sophomore banner which Greg Bass is about to present him.

In Miss Benington's third grade we watched attentively as Dennis Buhr displayed his creative ability.

As eighth graders we actually won a prize for our decorations. Paul Kempton puts the finishing touches to Santa in the guidance office.

Easter '59 found our Kindergarten class all decked out in their finest.

Ray McQueen and Shirley Eisenheimer explain the Legend of Sleepy Hollow to our eighth grade English class. Notice the beautiful artwork.

The 1971 Scope has finally made its appearance! Press Club members worked diligently to produce a book filled with memories of the school year. Taking pictures, pasting dummy copies, typing, proofreading, writing, and designing layouts were some of the many tasks involved in preparing the yearbook. The staff attended an informative Yearbook Forum in Rochester, and the whole club went on a very interesting field trip. Also the club members held a successful stationery sale. At the end of the year, a dinner was held to thank the members of the faculty for helping make Scope 1971 a success.

Who knows more about problems in democracy than members of Student Council? This authoritative organization empowers and regulates other school clubs and class functions. This year's members made a wise and bold decision when they placed a ten per cent tax on every organizations' money making projects. This money will be used to pay off a bill for award pins. Besides making important decisions, the members represent students at student related activities. Thanks to careful planning and decision making, our school has a democratic Student Council.

What's the largest club in RHCS? Why, it's the American Field Service, of course. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. The American Field Service Club combined work and play for Hind Barrak of Tunisia and Eddie Napier of New Zealand. In the fall, a welcome party was held to acquaint everyone with the two exchange students. Profits from bake sales, pizza sales, tag sales and a card party swelled the treasury to help pay the expenses of these students and of Phyllis August, who is Roy-Hart's American Abroad student in Denmark.

Each year five per cent of the senior class and ten per cent of the junior class are inducted into National Honor Society. Membership is very selective and is based on the qualities of scholarship, leadership, service and character as evidenced in each student. Many changes have taken place in the society recently. This year, for the first time, new members were called out of their classes to attend a luncheon with their parents, club advisers, and former members. After learning the symbolism of the society, the inductees recited the pledge and signed the register. The group then returned to the school where the new members were presented to the student body, and the goals of NHS were explained in an assembly.

Thoughtfulness is a valuable asset in this world of strife. Medical Careers Club members are concerned for the welfare of those less fortunate. At Christmas they collected canned and packaged foods, filled baskets and distributed them, and brought joy to many. Patients in various hospitals will always remember the kindness and sincerity of these girls for their contributions of physical and spiritual gifts. Enthusiasm is aroused at meetings by guest speakers who present information of specific fields. At the end of the year a special award is given to the senior who is planning to go into the nursing profession. Through this club students learn to appreciate and help the community.

Ho a del de, club de espanol! Ho o to the club of Spanish. This year Roy-Hart students gladly welcomed the newly formed Spanish club. Tacos and flan were featured at a completely Spanish dinner held in December. At the Christmas fiesta, Señores and Señoritas sang Spanish songs and practiced the customs of the people. The focal point of the evening was the breaking of the pinata, which showered the members with gifts of candies. The students' understanding of the language has been facilitated by the speaking of Spanish at regular meetings as well as by listening to special speakers.

Teaching offers a promising career for those willing to meet the challenges involved. The members of Future Teachers of America are preparing to meet them. One way that they have proved this is by relinquishing their study hall periods to the elementary and high school teachers. Members have been present at the monthly meetings of the Niagara Frontier Future Teachers of America. On FTA Day they attended Buffalo State for a fall conference, and they also participated in the spring conference. At a tea held for student teachers, the club discussed teaching as a career. Through these activities, members are preparing for their goal of teaching.

However, the firewardens' quickness in their job of directing students and teachers from the school building during fire drills and to the fallout shelter during air raid drills, forestalls this possibility. Checking fire boxes and extinguishers to insure their workability is also their responsibility. In addition they learn the use of fire equipment, fire control methods, air raid procedures, and fire prevention methods. As another duty, at assemblies the firewardens help the teachers in seating and dismissing students in an orderly manner.

This showing produced a season's record of 6-2 for the team and second place in Niagara-Orleans competition. After soundly defeating five league opponents, the team lost to Medina in a battle of nerves. As second place finishers in the league, there were seven boys who were named to the All-league team: Barry Bermudez received the Bruno Pacini award; Bob McAvoy and Mark McCabe were named most valuable back and lineman respectively.

Five straight wins were recorded at the beginning of Roy Hart's 1970-71 Varsity Basketball season. The season proceeded with a combination of wins and losses. The morale of the outstanding team never deteriorated, and they continued with determination. Joe Weber, recipient of the most valuable player award, was the consistent high scorer and outstanding rebounder. A 6-6 league and an 11-8 overall record tied RHCS in third place in the Niagara-Orleans league. This success for the Rams was a result of team effort plus individual achievements.

Surprises And Disappointments Characterize Season

Captain Jeffrey Harrington
 Coach Mr. William Jamieson

Neither rain, nor hail, nor sleet nor snow could keep the varsity baseball team from playing. One game was played in thirty degree weather while another, which was started in the rain, had to be stopped because the pitchers were throwing from a swamp. The dismal weather seemed to reflect on the team's record as they posed a four won - eight lost season. Jeff Harrington, captain of the team, was named Most Valuable Player.

On your mark, get set, bang, splash, and they're off! The Roy-Hart swim team amassed an excellent record of six wins, seven losses, and one tie. During the season several school records were broken. In January, Jerry Ulrich smashed two records - the 200-yard free style with a time of 2:09.6 and the 100-yard breast stroke in 1:13. In February Rick Hinkson broke the 100-yard free style record in: 57.3 while Dennis Ulrich, Keith Childs, Don Blount, and Rick Hinkson established a new record of 4.00.9 in the 400-yard relay. Morris Cree and Bob Hammer displayed a high degree of skill in diving. Each member of the team is to be congratulated on a job well done!

Coach Mr. Phillip Ciarico

For the first time in the history of our school, the Roy-Hart cross country team represented Section VI at the State meet where they finished in ninth place. They also placed first in Section BBB for the second consecutive year. Led by Dave Winters, Terry Sharp and Steve Cripps, the Roy-Hart harriers won ten out of twelve league meets which placed the thin clads in second place. Backing these strong runners with individual records of their own were the remaining members of the team, who helped to make another victorious season for Roy-Hart.

The Roy-Hart tennis team "swung" into action again for another year! The Coach spent many hours training and preparing the team for the year ahead. Together with the team's skill and enthusiasm, the team gained a great deal of experience even though their season's record was one win and nine losses. Barry Bermudez played first singles while Eric Sidebottom came through with second singles. Ron Berlin played third singles. All but Steve Jerge will be returning for the oncoming year with every hope for a very successful season.

Membership in this group is open to anyone in grades seven through twelve, and their chief function is an annual water show. Pattern formation, and small and large group swimming are two other skills learned by the members. Once the aquatic performers have mastered these routines, the most skilled of them are selected to participate in the water show. The theme for the show is chosen early in the year. ELEMENTARY

A child's innocent mind is shaped into a complex intellect at RHCS through years of education, just as this once barren land is being transformed into a road.

FIFTH GRADE

As the world changes students need to keep up to date with current as well as historical events. New textbooks, films, filmstrips and other library materials help the student to keep up with the times. In the fifth grade, students develop good habits of logic and reasoning, and they are encouraged to use their knowledge in solving every day problems which occur in their own experiences. These programs furnish students with a better understanding of life and the forces of the universe giving them a variety of pathways to self-expression

SIXTH GRADE

Field trips and projects enable sixth graders to better understand the peoples and lands studied. The history of man from Stone Age times to the present as well as current events are read and discussed. Modern math is continued more intensively, along with a thorough study of weather, energy, simple machines, earth, and physical and chemical changes.

In this grade students begin to think for themselves. From biographical studies of famous Americans they learn to think how America grew. In the coming years from these beginnings it is hoped they will learn how to make lasting peace. From science they learn more about the ecology of our changing world, and how they will live in the future.

Man and his needs, not just in our own community, but elsewhere in the world are studied. Students learn that all men have the same needs but meet them in a different way. They study maps and globes and locate where they live on each. Reading skills are expanded and cursive writing is done

SECOND GRADE

MRS. SANDRA KELLEY, MRS. ELAINE FIELDS, MRS. CLAUDETTE BERTHA, MISS MARLENE SHEPARD

FIRST GRADE

The study and social habits learned in first grade are the foundation of formal education. Reading is correlated with science and the language arts. In Social Studies they study Families and Social Needs; comparing life in our country with that in Japan, Switzerland and India. First graders are introduced to anthropology, sociology, geography, economics, history and physical science. This is a year of hard work and accomplishment, experimentation and discovery - a year of exceptional growth; physically, emotionally, socially and intellectually.

SECOND GRADE

In second grade many skills introduced in first grade are reinforced. Basic essentials of Reading, Mathematics, Spelling, Science and English are covered. The community and its services are studied. A unit of work in correlation to the holidays is done. Visual aids are used in the development of better reading skills.

LIBRARY

The pleasant libraries in the elementary schools furnish both students and teachers with extras in the area of educational materials. A large book collection, film-strips, filmloops, transparencies, pictures, records, slides, models and kits are available. A good program of instruction in the use of the library and its facilities has been carried out. The overhead projector and screen have been a great help in this particular area. Both faculty and students benefit from the many periodicals which are provided on a subscription basis.

KINDERGARTEN

As the kindergartener begins a new life outside his own family circle, he learns how to form friendships with other children and adults. In the Language Art Program, through the help of games, films, and other media, he goes from self concept to left, right perception. He becomes interested in the weather, seasons, animals of all types, health care, foods, holidays, music, and art. Is it any wonder that a five-year old really enjoys nap time?

KINDERGARTEN

MRS. LINDA RETZLAFF, MRS. MARY BOWIN, MISS LaVONNE PETERSEN

READING

New personnel has been added to the Reading Department to meet the demands and needs of the children. In the elementary schools, there are two Resource Reading Teachers and eight paraprofessionals. These aides have been assigned to work with individual students or with small groups.

MUSIC

MR. STANLEY TINDER, Vocal, MR. CHARLES HAWKINS, Instrumental, MRS. WILMA TAYLOR, Vocal Absentee MR. STEPHEN PREGMON, Instrumental

MUSIC

In their early childhood, children are introduced to the music program through singing, moving with music, listening, and playing instruments. At third grade level they have the opportunity of studying a string instrument, and at fourth grade level a band instrument. In the upper elementary grades, attention is focused more on reading music, singing and playing in harmony, studying the folk music of other countries as well as our own, and listening to the composers. Some of the special activities for this age are chorus, band and string groups.

ART

Depth in art appreciation is accomplished in elementary art. Students not only put their ideas on paper in the form of pictures but work with papier mache, paint, colored chalk and clay. Beginning in first grade, each student participates once a week in an art class which meets in the art room.

MRS. JOANN RAFFERTY, MISS NANCY NEIMAN

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MR. CARLTON CHASE, MRS. VERA PARSONS, MRS. ELIZABETH BRIDGE, MR. DAVID MARCH

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A program of movement education is being followed in the elementary school physical education department. The basic theory of this program is the concept that movement is a function of the body and each part of the body has certain capabilities. The purpose for providing movement experiences is to lead children into effective, efficient and expressive movement. A much more satisfying program results when a child discovers how his body reacts to certain limitations which change as the focus of the content area changes.

HEALTH

MISS DORIS ANDRESS, Dental Hygienist, MRS. ALICE DICKINSON School Nurse Teacher

HEALTH

Good physical and mental health is necessary for optimum learning to take place. Each child in the elementary school is examined by the school physician and given vision and hearing tests by the school-nurse teacher. Each student's teeth are inspected and cleaned, and instruction in dental hygiene, both in the classroom and on a personal basis, is given by the dental hygienist. Parents are notified of defects in each case.

The roads of the world be countless, and most of the trails be tried
You tread on the heels of the many, 'till you come where the ways divide.
And one lies safe in the sunlight, and the other is dreary and wan.
Yet you look aslant at the trail, and the untouched road lures you on
And somehow you're sick of the highway, with its noise and its easy needs,
And you seek the risk of the by-way, and you know not where it leads Sometimes it leads to the desert, or to the mountain top,
And sometimes it leads to the Southland or the Northland, but,
Wherever it may lead
Bid good-by to sweetheart, bid good-by to friend
The Long Road, the Rough Road, follow to the end.
Tarry not, and fear not, chosen of the true,
Acceptor of the Challenge, the Successful Road waits for you
